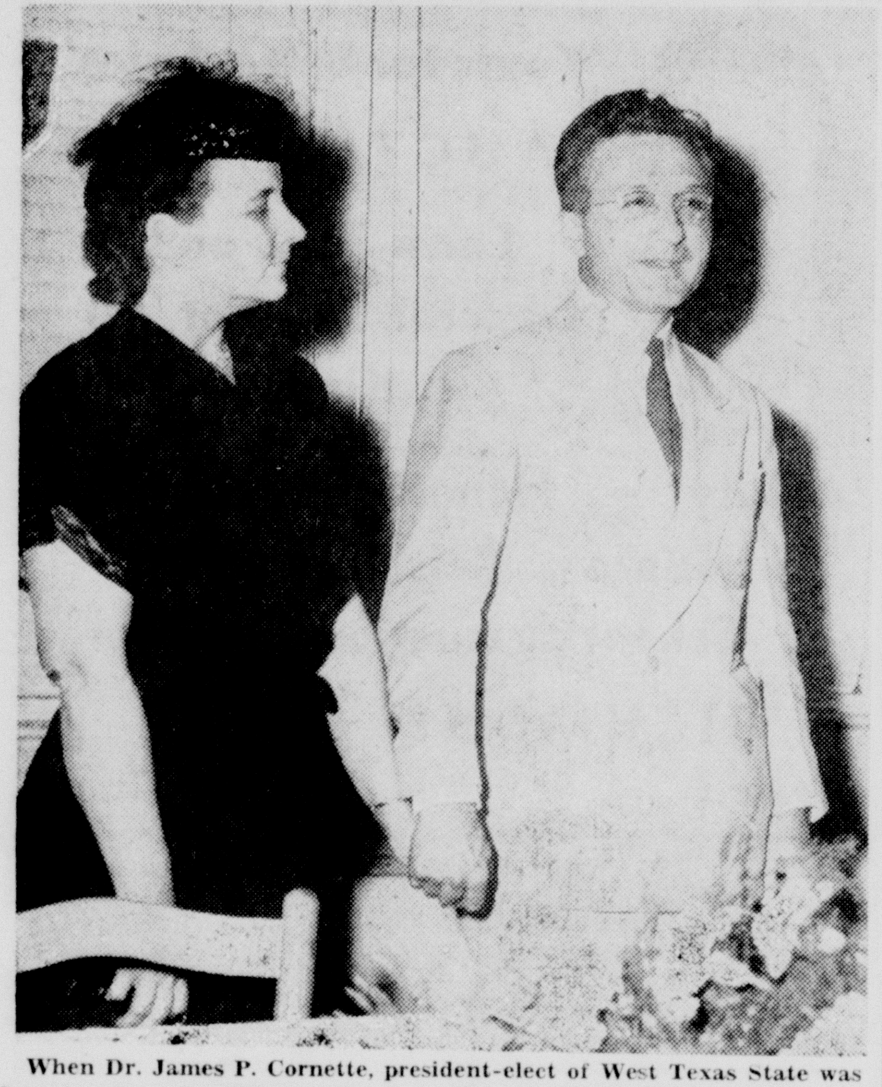
Hand-in-Hand the Cornettes Have Traveled "Every Step of the Way"



When Dr. James P. Cornette, president-elect of West Texas State was introduced to the audience Monday night, he called his wife to his side explaining that she had traveled with him "every step of the way." The family has lived in Canyon since January and have endeared themselves to all people of the area. The best wishes of all Panhandle citizens are extended to Dr. and Mrs. Cornette.

Taxpayers of School Districts Will Vote Next Saturday on the Plan For Grouping With Canyon Schools

Voters in ten school districts of Randall county will vote on next Saturday, July 10, on the grouping plan which would make one district of the ten. It is proposed that eventually 16 school districts shall become a group under the laws of the state.

Three voting boxes will be opened for the citizens of the ten districts: At the city hall in Canyon, at the Ralph Elevator and at the Connally school house.

A full notice of the proposed plan is published in this issue of The News. This notice has been posted at all polling places at which elections will be held.

A public meeting was held Friday night at the court house regarding the proposal. Dr. R. A. Neblett, president of the Canyon School Board, presided.

He pointed out the fact that all of the districts which are proposed for regrouping are now sending their children to the Canyon school. The proposal is being made for the benefit of the children in the districts affected. Education is the greatest gift that any people may give the children, stated Dr. Neblett.

The chairman called attention to three steps that are necessary for grouping of the 16 districts which are now sending their pupils to Canyon:

1. The vote of July 10 to group the 10 districts.

2. Annexation of districts by the County School Board of districts with less than 10 scholastics.

3. Elections in the Stone and Lakeside districts to come into the group.

Following the election of July 10, if grouping carries, a new board of trustees will be appointed to take the place of the trustees now serving in the 10 districts.

Dr. Neblett stated that the purchase of new busses would be among the first problems of the new board, in order to take care of the students of the enlarged district.

The speaker pointed out the fact that the taxpayers in the Canyon Independent School District had increased their taxes three times in the past three years in order to provide adequate school facilities. Some of the sending districts have not been able to pay the tuition charges of the Canyon schools. No taxes would be reduced by the proposed grouping.

Judge James Witherspoon of Hereford, who is handling the legal end of grouping answered questions regarding this phase. He represented both Deaf Smith and Swisher counties in their recent grouping elections.

Judge Witherspoon pointed out the benefits of the enlarged district and how the people of Deaf Smith county were highly pleased over the new set-up. Some property owners were displeased and took the case to the Supreme Court of Texas where it was affirmed. Now these same persons are the biggest boosters for the new school district.

The law upon which grouping is passed was devised after long study of school districts of the state. It was approved by the legislature and governor, and has withstood all court attacks. It is based entirely upon majority rule, and the theory that a majority must be served. In the case of Deaf Smith county, Judge Witherspoon said that taxes had not advanced nearly as much as people had expected.

Randall county has an ideal set-up for grouping, with Canyon in the middle of the county. The county school board has the authority to remove from the districts such sections as may more economically be served by Amarillo, Happy and Umbarger. The plan is ideal, and Judge Witherspoon believes that it will work admirably in Randall county.

Dr. Neblett closed the meeting by asking that all citizens in the proposed territory go to the polls next Saturday and express their sentiment on the measure. "Consider the welfare of the children ,before you cast a vote," urged the chairman."

Advisory Group on Palo Duro to Meet on Friday

An advisory committee from the Panhandle section has been named to assist the Texas State Parks Board with the development of the Palo Duro State Park. The committee will hold its first meeting at the Capitol Hotel in Amarillo Friday noon.

L. S. Johnston and Clyde Warwick will represent Randall county. J. B. Elliston will represent Deaf Smith county.

The following men will represent Amarillo: Guy Carlander, Ted Lokey, Ross Rogers, Jim Reynolds, S. B. Whittenburg and Rex Baxter.

When the State Parks Board met in Amarillo recently it was recommended that an advisory committee from the Panhandle be selected in order to keep the state board informed as to the needs of the Palo Duro. No Panhandle representative has ever been appointed on this board in spite of the fact that the Palo Duro is one of the most important parks in the state.

July Fourth Was a Quiet Day Here

July 4th was a very quiet day in Canyon.

Practically all business was at a standstill in order to observe the holiday.

On account of the Educational Conference honoring Dr. J. A. Hill classes in West Texas State continued as usual.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Brenson of Crosbyton spent the week end in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Parker.

Green Wheat Is Holding Harvest Off in Randall

Harvest is slow in Randall county because of the large amount of green wheat which has been brought out by the recent rains and the cool nights. It is predicted that the yield will be much more than was estimated a few weeks ago.

No estimate is yet available on the number of acres which will be harvested this year, or what the yield will be. However, it is believed that only about half of the volunteer crop that was left will be harvested. Some farmers have plowed under their volunteer crop during the past week. Wheat farmers have observed that the past several years has been so profitable on volunteer wheat that too much wheat land was saved this year in hope that it would eventually make a good crop. The small amount of rain last fall made it impossible for the volunteer crop to develop.

There are about 40 sections of wheat in the northeast part of the county which will produce a normal crop. Late rains this spring have made this crop possible. A few sections in this area were damaged by hail. Some of the summer fallowed land in the northeast part of the county will make as much as 25 bushels to the acre.

Randall county will have the largest acreage of summer fallowed land in its history this year. Before the war the best farmers followed the practice of summer fallowing, but the urgent necessity of a big wheat crops, and continued favorable weather lead to continued wheat crops without the necessity of summer fallowing. It is believed now that most wheat farmers will return to their pre-war practice of summer fallowing one-third of their wheat land annually.

There will be the largest row chop acreage that the county has had in recent years, according to reports being received from the farmers. Not as much replanting has been necessary as was thought last week. Some farmers have used weed spray to kill out the weeds on row crops in order to give the crops a chance to get started following the recent rains.

Future Enemy Will Strike America if Another War Comes

General Roger M. Ramey, commander of the 8th Air Force at Fort Worth, believes that cities of America are targets for a sudden attack from the air. Any enemy would attempt to knock America out in a surprise attack by air. America has won two wars by superior production, and no enemy would be foolish enough to allow us time to produce sufficient arms for another war.

General Ramey talked at the Canyon Rotary Club Tuesday. He was introduced by Hosea Foster.

The world situation was considered critical by the General. Our magnificent isolation no longer exists. The world is shrinking in size because of air power. Every city is open to bomb attacks.

The world is in a state of unrest. A dozen little wars are in progress, any one of which could develop into a major war. We have learned from the lesson of World War II that air power will be the main force in future wars.

There is a great need for scientific development, such as radar. The atomic bomb has brought new problems. But we shall not hold the secret long. Scientific development costs billions of dollars to the people.

There is need for greater world wide intelligence, and a coordination between the armed forces and foreign policies, as well as unification of command.

Our greatest strength is our productivity capacity. But no nation will give us time to develop this productivity before attacking us.

The coming of a new generation may again make us smug in the opinion that we can prepare for war in a short time. War proves that the rich and powerful are apt to become careless; while poverty is no handicap for preparedness, as Germany and Japan are glowing examples.

The General believed that while we hold a technical superiority over other nations at the present time, enemies might overtake us. We have no monopoly on brains.

General Ramey believes that air power is the power which will save the nation from any potential enemy.

Visitors were: E. L. Henderson of Greenville, N. C.; Seth Ramey of Lubbock; Capt. Van Patten of Fort Worth; Otis Williams, Forrest Barnes, Cecil Hunter, J. E. Bowman, Ed Broome, all of Amarillo; W. C. Black and Robert Bellah of Canyon.

Gold Band Ring Passed From Finger of President J. A. Hill After 30 Years As Head of West Texas State College

When the late Dr. R. B. Cousins retired as the first president of West Texas State, he placed a gold ring on the finger of his successor, Dr. J. A. Hill. This ring was passed on Monday night by Dr. Hill to Dr. James P. Cornette, who assumes the duties of President on Sept. 1. The ring explained Dr. Hill is symbolic of "solid merit inherent in the institution." Citizens of the Panhandle paid tribute to Dr. Hill in this meeting.

Bond Sales Go Over Top By the Close of June

The federal government has extended the sale of Savings Bonds until July 15th for the purpose of allowing all counties of Texas to reach their quotas.

The last official report comes from Dallas as of June 26. At that time Randall county was 26th county in Texas, showing that 87.8% of the quota had been bought by the citizens of Randall county. At that time 18 counties were oversubscribed, and the seven other counties above Randall county had nearly reached their quotas.

However, County Chairman R. H. Wright reports that Randall county went over the top in its drive before the end of June. This official report will be dated July 3, showing that Randall county was about 103%. No reports have been issued as to other counties of the state.

It was reported on June 26th that Texas had subscribed only 48% of the alloted quotas. Very few of the large counties were near their quotas. Six counties of the state were under 10% of their quotas. The delinquent counties have greatly reduced the total for the state's sales.

Candidates To Speak on July 13 at the Bandstand

Candidates of Randall county will be given the opportunity to speak to the voters in Canyon on Tuesday night, July 13, starting at 8 o'clock.

A loud speaker will be installed at the bandstand and ample time will be given each candidate to speak to the voters.

This gathering on the courts house lawn will be held early next week in order that all candidates may have the opportunity to place their candidacy frankly before the voters 10 days before the primary date.

In past election years, candidate meetings have been held only a few days before election, usually on Saturday night.

Tuesday night was selected in order that business men might come to the court house lawn and hear the speeches.

Editorials

Voters of the Canyon Independent School District and the common school districts which send children to the Canyon schools will vote next Saturday on the proposal of regrouping these districts into the Canyon district. Since the districts all have a common interest, and since the children are being educated in the Canyon schools, it is better to have one district with one board of trustees than to have a number of districts with trustees who must come to a common understanding regarding the school issues. So far as costs are concerned, taxpayers in Canyon have increased their taxes about 100% during the past three years in order to carry on adequate school facilities for the benefit of all districts of the county. The cost to the farmers and ranchers of those districts which will benefit by the regrouping will be fully offset by improvement in their school facilities. Since Randall county is recognized by citizens throughout the Panhandle as the educational center of Northwest Texas; and since practically all counties in this area have regrouped their school districts along the proposed lines for Randall county, it would be a severe blow to the prestige of this county to have the plan rejected on Saturday. However, The News is not seeking to tell voters how they shall vote. The main thing we are interested in is to see to it that all voters of the districts affected shall go to the polls and vote their sentiment on July 10. It would be a tragic reflection upon our interest in the future welfare of the children of the county to have only a handful of the possible 1500 qualified voters go to the polls on July 10.

Here we have a peculiar situation in Texas. Four members of the Supreme Court are forced to run for re-election simply because they were appointed to fill out unexpired terms. Three of them have opponents. Chief Justice J. E. Hickman was an Associate Justice before the death of James P. Alexander. The Governor named Hickman to succeed Alexander. In spite of the fact that Hickman would have had four more years to serve as an associate, he must run for the unexpired term. Many states have solved this mess in the courts through the convention system, in which the lawyers distate who shall hold the court positions. Of course some voters will look with horror on such a system, in view of what goes on in our presidential conventions. On the other hand, it is a foregone conclusion that fearless, able lawyers will hesitate to go before the voters and seek supreme court jobs, at lower salaries than they are accustomed to draw. The judicial convention system works in many other states, as intelligent as Texas, and we see no reason why it would not work in Texas.

The Newsman felt quite complimented the other day. Two different voters of Randall county asked when we would publish our usual analysis of the coming primary election. The fact that so few voters know anything about the candidates for minor offices in Texas makes one wonder why we still have to vote for these officers. But have no fears, neither the legislature nor the people are likely to reduce the number of elective offices in Texas. For a number of years the school men have been trying to take the office of state school superintendent out of politics. L. A. Woods has built up such a powerful political machine that he is so safe in his job that he has no opponent this year. But one of these days ,before the primary election, we shall publish our regular pre-election digest of the various candidates. No, we do not expect the voters to accept it, but it will be a guide post in the election.

In just a few more days the Democratic party will select its candidates for President and Vice President. President Truman believes that he will be nominated on the first ballot. In fact, unless General Eisenhower comes out with a definite declaration that he would accept the nomination, the President is safe in his position. No one, except Eisenhower, could defeat the President for the nomination. So far as the November election is concerned, those who have followed the fickleness of the American voters are convinced that Truman probably has as good a chance to defeat Dewey in November as Eisenhower might have. There are a lot of Americans sincerely fearful of military rule, and want no military man in the White House. By the time The News is published next week, we expect Truman to have received the nomination.

Local candidates over the Plains are wondering why they should be taxed such a high fee to get their names on the primary ballot when candidates for state offices pay only $100 to have their names printed on the ballots in 254 counties. The News has been calling attention to this inequality for years, without avail. Under the law, candidates of district judge and district attorney in districts with three counties or more pay $1 per county. These jobs pay good salaries. But local candidates for the major offices in any county of Texas pay from $100 up, depending on population. All of the fees paid by the state candidates goes to the state committee, which also collects $2.00 per county from each district candidate for the expense of canvassing returns in the district. Pretty good little side issue for the secretary of the state committee, who gets a full time job, with little work only every two years. The local candidates are the victims of this system ,which was set up by Pappy O'Daniel, when he was governor. No legislature has taken the time to correct the mistake of a few years ago.

We see that the Texas State Parks Board has appointed an Advisory Committee of Panhandle citizens to represent the Palo Duro State Park. Having served on such an advisory board years ago, the Newsman offers the suggestion to the State Parks Board that the plan is worth less than it will cost the members who will serve on the board. In the past the suggestions of this advisory board were immediately pigeonholed, if they ever reached the dignity of having been read. Since Palo Duro is the largest park in the state; since its finances have been pulled out of the hole which impeded its development; since there is a vacancy on the State Parks Board; since no Panhandle citizen has ever been appointed on this board; since the appointment of such a Panhandle representative on the Board is the only means of bringing adequate recognition to Palo Duro, we humbly ask: Why in the name of common sense does Governor Jester hesitate to fill this vacancy, and why does he not appoint a Panhandle citizen who will look after the interest of Palo Duro?

We see that some candidates for public office assure voters that when they are elected that Texas will no longer permit its natural resources to go out of the state without adequate taxation. So what? They would impose a huge export duty on our gas and oil! Yes, and Michigan would impose an export duty on cars; New York on manufactured goods; tobacco growing states, on their exports; etc. etc. The legislature found out 20 years ago that such export tax was illegal. But that does not keep the politicians from raising a howl about gas and oil being shipped out.

We are inclined to think that Agriculture Commissioner J. E. McDonald has bit off more than he can chew. He has been able to fool the voters of Texas for 16 years but when it comes to federal courts, that is simply a horse of a different color. Our brief experience in a federal court, as a witness, leads us to dread those old boys who preside over those courts. There is no foolishness in what they do or say. Jim Griffin should defeat McDonald, but we have been saying the same thing about old Mac for so long, without avail.

Democrats who are fearful of the civil rights program of President Truman should keep in mind the fact that Governor Dewey has already sponsored such a bill through the legislature of New York. Personally we may not like it, but Truman is making political thunder of a certainty, which will be forced upon all states of the union, whether they like it or not. The only question is whether we prefer to take GOP medicine, or stay with the Democratic dose.

The children of Randall county are the greatest asset that we have in the county. Vote for their interest on July 10. Vote in the school election which will be held on the proposed regrouping plan. Regardless of your views, go to the polls and vote.

Main objectives of the decentralizing plan will be: (1) to eliminate industrial concentration in Chicago, Detroit, Philadelphia and New York—a virtual invitation to atomic bombing; (2) to break up other cities' target zones — small factory areas with dozens of plants crowded into them; (3) to relocate industries in towns of 50,000 or smaller, and separated by at least 10 miles from other population centers.

STATE OF TEXAS
COUNTY OF RANDALL

BE IT REMEMBERED that a meeting of the County School Board of School Trustees of Randall Co., Texas, held in the County Court Room in Canyon, Randall Co., Tex., in the court house thereof of the 12th day of June, 1948, all members being present, namely: E. R. Cleavinger, J. D. Barker, H. C. Bryan, Marion Bruce and Burney Slack, County Judge, Randall County, Texas, and Secretary to said Board; except Charles Beckman. And at said regular meeting so held on said date came on to be considered the matter of forming an independent rural high school district in Randall County, Texas, to be composed of the Canyon Independent School District and the following common school districts, to-wit: Pierce Elementary Common School District No. 26, Wilson Elementary Common School District No. 19, Trigg Elementary Common School District No. 6, Connally Elementary Common School District No. 1, Zita Elementary Common School District No. 13, Palo Duro Elementary Common School District No. 25, Tierra Blanca Elementary Common School District No. 24, Ralph Elementary Common School District No. 4, Jowell Elementary Common School District No. 8, Lakeside Elementary Common School District No. 22, Stone Elementary Common School District No. 20, Rusk Elementary Common School District No. 23, Johnson Elementary Common School District No. 16, Garrison Elementary Common School District No. 17, and Hudson Elementary Common School District No. 3; and it appearing to the said County School Board of School Trustees of Randall County, Texas, that the school system in Randall County, Texas, is such that this board should give its attention thereto under the law and a petition having been circulated and filed with the County School Board of School Trustees requesting the County School Board of School Trustees of Randall Co., Tex., to call an election under Art. 2922c of the revised civil statutes of Texas and amendments thereto for the purpose of creating an independent rural high school district to be known as the Canyon Independent Rural High School District of Randall County, Texas, and to be composed of the Canyon Independent School District and the other districts above named, being elementary common school districts; and also requesting the county school board of school trustees to exercise its jurisdiction and authority under Articles 2922 a and c and also Article 2742 e-1 and Article 2742 m and amendments thereto. And it appearing that it would be for the best interest of the larger number and majority of the school children in said area in Randall County, Texas, that a rural high school district be formed and created under the law; and also that said petition should be given the attention deserved and the considered action of this board. And it further appearing to said board that no high school is conducted in Randall County, Texas, except within the boundary lines of the Canyon Independent School District; and that there is only one independent school district in Randall County, Texas, involved, and that the hereinafter described elementary and common school districts and the Canyon Independent School District are contiguous districts under the law, and that this board should give immediate attention and consideration to the school problems of each and all of said districts for the benefit of the majority of school children in Randall County, Texas; and that the school system in Canyon, Texas, within the limits of the Canyon Independent School District, can better serve the needs of the school children then in any other way or manner.

Good Times In Future Seen by Big Majority

Late in June, the Federal Reserve Board released its third annual Survey of Consumer Finances. This study, which is prepared by a University of Michigan research center, is designed to find out what typical families want to buy, how their finances shape up, what they think of the economic future, etc. It is based on interviews with several thousand "spending units"—a spending unit being defined as a group of people living under one roof whose incomes are pooled.

According to a Business Week breakdown of the survey, "if consumers make good their intentions, 1948 is going to be even bigger than 1947 in purchases of houses, automobiles, and other durable goods." Two years of postwar production have made no dent you can see in the backlog of demand." For example—the waiting market for automobiles is in the $8,000,000,000 bracket; housing expenditures may run as high as $19,000,000,000; consumers who want furniture, washing machines and other durable goods apparently ar ready to spend between $3,000,000,000 and $4,000,000,000 before the dawn of 1949.

Some obvious qualifications must enter into consideration of these findings. The interviews were taken during the first two months of the year, and in the time that has ensued there may have been changes in the desires and the financial positions of many potential buyers. Of perhaps greater moment, even if consumers are still able and willing to buy as they anticipated months ago, all of the goods will not be available. The market for automobiles, for instance, may approach 4,500,000 units. The industry can't produce that many this year, and some of its top men think it may be late 1950 before it will be possible to walk into a showroom and pick a car of one's choice off the floor. Also, it does not look as if new housing construction will be able to come anywhere near meeting the demand for a considerable time to come. The other durable goods—radios, appliances, etc.—are in good supply, though it is not always possible to immediately find some particular make and model.

In any event, buying is naturally conditioned on purchasing power. Here the situation remains bright. The survey found that two-thirds of the spending units still had a liquid backlog—though it was not so large as in 1947. And there has been a noticeable increase in installment purchasing.

One of the most interesting phases of the survey was consumer opinion of what lies ahead, both for themselves and for the nation as a whole. Twenty-seven per cent expect that their incomes will be larger a year hence, 38 per cent anticipate no particular change, and only 10 per cent look for a drop, with the balance uncertain .This is a somewhat more optimistic outlook than was found in similar surveys sponsored by the Federal Reserve Board in 1947 and 1946.

On the subject of the general outlook, 47 per cent foresee good times, 19 per cent little or no change, and 26 per cent are afraid that bad times are coming. This too represents a brighter point of view than in the preceding surveys.

The survey takes into account spending units at all the principal levels. As is to be expected, the reactions varied greatly between lower level and upper level income groups. As compared with the previous year, the over-$5,000 units showed a heavy increase in projected purchasing. In the under-$2,000 groups, on the other hand, there was a very heavy decline. This is the inevitable result of the continued rise in prices.

All in all, however, the survey supports the widely held opinion that the period of high purchasing power with near-peak employment is here to stay for a while. When people with money are unable to buy new cars, they will buy used ones. If they find new housing scarce or too expensive, they will bolster the old-home market. And many of them say they are prepared to pay still higher prices than obtained now.

This and all comparable surveys are necessarily based on a shorter outlook. No one is willing to stick his neck out on what may happen over a period of some years. There has been a steady decline in family savings, most marked in the middle and low income groups. Even so, the country's savings backlog is extremely high, so the drop hasn't occasioned too much worry as yet.

A new photo-metric method of measuring men and women for suits by a camera and optical mirrors produces perfect-fitting garments without try-ons. The equipment, leased on a royalty basis, is expected to revolutionize both ready-made and made-to-order tailoring. Big advantage for retailers: They can limit ready-made stocks to popular middle range sizes, take care of hard-to-fit customers in the Photo-Metric department.

Mobilization planners — the National Securities Resources Board will be ready with preparedness blueprints for World War III in about six weeks. Industry will be asked to step up the pace at which key plants are moving away from congested areas, but will not be asked to (1) go underground (2) start a mass migration and scatter plants in wide-open spaces. Plenty of room for decentralized plants can be found even in supposedly crowded New England.

New knowledge about medium and coarse wool is the aim of a four-year $300,000 research program set up by leading U.S. and British wool organizations. Chemical and physical differences (other than gross cross-section size) between fine and medium wool fibers still are little known, make fabric texture planning unsure. More know-how may raise marketing efficiency, offset the sharp decline in fine wool production caused by wool crop slump in U.S. and Australia.

A young boy, undergoing an examination for a position, came across the question: "What is the distance of the earth from the sun?" He wrote the answer as follows:

"I am unable to state accurately but I don't believe the sun is near enough to interfere with a proper performance of my duties if I get the job."

For the whole receipe use 2¼ teaspoons baking powder, and bake at 350 degrees.

DONALD DAVIS

JAMES BIBLE

At the State Convention of the Future Farmers of America, three members of the Canyon High School Chapter, James Bible, Jones Hales and Donald Davis, received the State Farmer Degree, which is the highest honor awarded by the State Association. Each year this degree is awarded to two per cent of the members of the Texas Association if they are able to meet the qualifications set out by the State and National Constitutions. There are over 25,000 members of the Future Farmers of America in Texas this year.

The minimum qualifications for the State Farmer degree require each boy to be a member of the F.F.A. for at least two years, and a Chapter farmer for one year before making application, with an outstanding record of participation in the local chapter activities. He must demonstrate proficiency in Parliamentary procedure, have in operation an outstanding program of supervised farming, be able to lead a group discussion for forty minutes, must have earned at lease $250.00; show outstanding leadership ability by his participation in Chapter, Community and school activities with a satisfactory record of scholarship.

The written records of achievement were presented to the District and Area conventions last spring The boys successfully passing these conventions were certified to the State Convention, which was held in Houston last month. Area I, in which the Canyon Chapter belongs received more than its quota of State Farmers, because of the outstanding work done by the boys and their teachers of Vocational Agriculture.

James Bible was selected as the Star Farmer of the Hereford District. The Hereford District includes Dimmitt, Hereford, Bovina, Farwell, Friona and Canyon. James has served as a local and District officer for the past three years, was a member of the Dairy Cattle Judging team that won second place in the State this year, and has developed supervised farming program in Dairying, Swine and field crops. He was outstanding in athletics and other activities in high school for the past three years. Jones Hales owns six registered Holstein cows and has been active in local and district activities for the past three years. Jones was also a member of the Dairy Cattle Team which won second in the State contest this year. Jones has developed an outstanding program along with his dairying, in swine. He has been a consistent winner at fairs and shows with his livestock. He is an active member of breed associations and other improvement organizations. Donald Davis, President of the Canyon F.F.A. for the past year and was recently elected Area Vice-President of the F.F.A. Donald has developed a fine herd of registered Poland China hogs, and included field crops and beef cattle among his other supervised farming projects. Each of the boys has an average of more than $3,000.00 earned and invested in farming.

The State Farmer awards will be made to all of the boys receiving these degrees at the awards banquet in Lubbock, July 9. There are 63 boys from this area to receive these degrees.

Jones, James and Donald plan to continue their work toward the Degree of American Farmer., the highest degree to be obtained in the Future Farmers of America organization. They will have two more years to obtain this degree, which requires them to be out of High School for at least one year.

SALESMAN'S PRAYER

"Oh Lord, in these days when Anybody can sell Anything, help me to remember that it will not always be thus; that Humility is still the hallmark of the Successful Salesman; that the Seller is always the Servant of the Buyer; that Arrogance costs as many Orders as Ignorance of the Line; that I have too short a Memory ever to tell a Lie, and that Buyers have too long a Memory ever to forget a Wrong.

"Above all, help me to remember that no one ever lost an Order because Quality was too high, or Service too good. Amen."—El Paso "Round-Up".

THINKER

Pat and Mike were working on a new building. Pat was laying bricks and Mike was carrying the hod. Mike had just come up to the fourth floor when the whistle blew. "I hate to walk down," he said.

"Take hold of this rope," Pat said, "and I'll let you down." Pat let him down half way and they let go of the rope. Mike landed in a mortar bed, not much hurt but angry.

"And why did you let go of the rope?" he demanded.

"I thought it was going to break," said Pat, "and I had presence of mind enough to let it go."

We're Proud to be LOW MAN on this TOTEM POLE

Copr. Advertisers Exchange Inc. 1948

The money you spend here for health and beauty aids has approximately the same buying power as it did back in 1939! And right here is graphic proof that we're low man on the totum pole when it comes to prices. While other "cost of living" goods and services shot skyward, prices for drugs and toiletries advanced a tiny 3.1 per cent. We're proud of that record — proud indeed to be able to bring you your favorite nationally advertised products at the lowest possible prices.

W. H. HAMBLEN

Candidate for County Commissioner, Precinct 1, Randall County, Texas, kindly solicits your vote and influence in the coming promary election.

I have had a great deal of experience and close observation in the development of Randall and the surrounding counties of the Panhandle.

I have the distinction of being the one who made it possible to cross the Palo Duro Canyon with an automobile on a County road from Claude to Wayside, designated and officially named and recorded by the County Commissioners' Court of Armstrong County as the "Hamblen Drive."

I realize fully the responsibility, and am thoroughly familiar with the duties this office carries.

I shall be very happy if I am privileged to serve as your Commissioner for the next two years.

Yours for service,

Meat Prices Are Based in High Cattle Today

Every now and then, consumer groups draw an unflattering comparison between the price of beef on the hoof, at wholesale, and the price charged for table cuts at retail. The difference is large. And that leads many people to a totally erroaneous idea of the costs involved in processing and marketing.

Some time ago one of the meat packing companies explained, in full detail, where the money goes to. At that time, choice cattle were selling on the Chicago market, at an average of 32.5 cents a pound—yet steaks were selling in New York for as high as $1.00 a pound. And here are the reasons why.

For a thousand pound steer, the farmer received $325. By the time it was dressed and chilled, that steer weighed only 625 pounds. After adding plant expenses, and deducting the value of by-products, the packer had little more than $307 invested in 625 pounds of beef—which works out to 49¼ cents a pound.

By the time the beef reached New York, the packer's cost per pound had risen to 51.9 cents. It was sold to the retailer at around 52 cents, leaving but a fraction of a cent per pound for the packer.

By the time the retailer prepared the beef for sale, his investment was over 60 cents a pound. His selling cost, plus a small profit, averaged 12½ cents. Consequently, all the cuts had to move at an average price of 73 cents for each and every pound. Some of the less desirable cuts had to be sold for as little as 40 cents a pound. And that simply means that the price of the choicest cuts, such as fine steaks, had to approach a dollar.

What is true of meat is true of all staple foods. All along the line, production costs and retailing costs are held to the minimum. Profits are minuscular. And the consumer gets the lowest price possible under today's economic conditions.

FACT FABLE

Once upon a time there was a man who had married in haste and had been repenting ever since. He had often thought of divorce, but public opinion and alimony were in the way. Then one day his wife disappeared, and he didn't hear from her for several weeks. This made him very happy, but he wanted to protect his own reputation.

So to avoid suspicion he reported the case to the Missing Persons Bureau—and they found his wife!

Moral: Let well enough alone.

President Truman is being advised that he needs New York State to win in 1948, with his chances in that State affected by: (1) a New Yorker at the head of the Republican ticket; (2) American Labor Party support for Henry Wallace. Democrats by themselves polled under 35 per cent of New York State vote in 1946.

French girls are more cultured than American girls. They never ask whether or not you have a car, what night club you can afford, how much you can spend. They go walking, cycling, riding with you, and then take you home and get the old man to open up the best bottle of wine in the house. Imagine American girls doing that!—Johnny Graves, Washington University sophomore.

Henry Wallace still may withdraw before the November election now that the issue of peace or war with Russia is far in the background. Mr. Wallace is finding it difficult to keep up interest in his third party.

"Thanks for the loan, Grandma. I wish Mom and Pop would realize that a guy can't take his girl very far on a dollar these days."

If I felt any better, I couldn't stand it.—President Truman.

A REPORT TO OUR CUSTOMERS . . .

WHAT WE ARE DOING TO INCREASE OUR GAS PIPE LINE CAPACITY

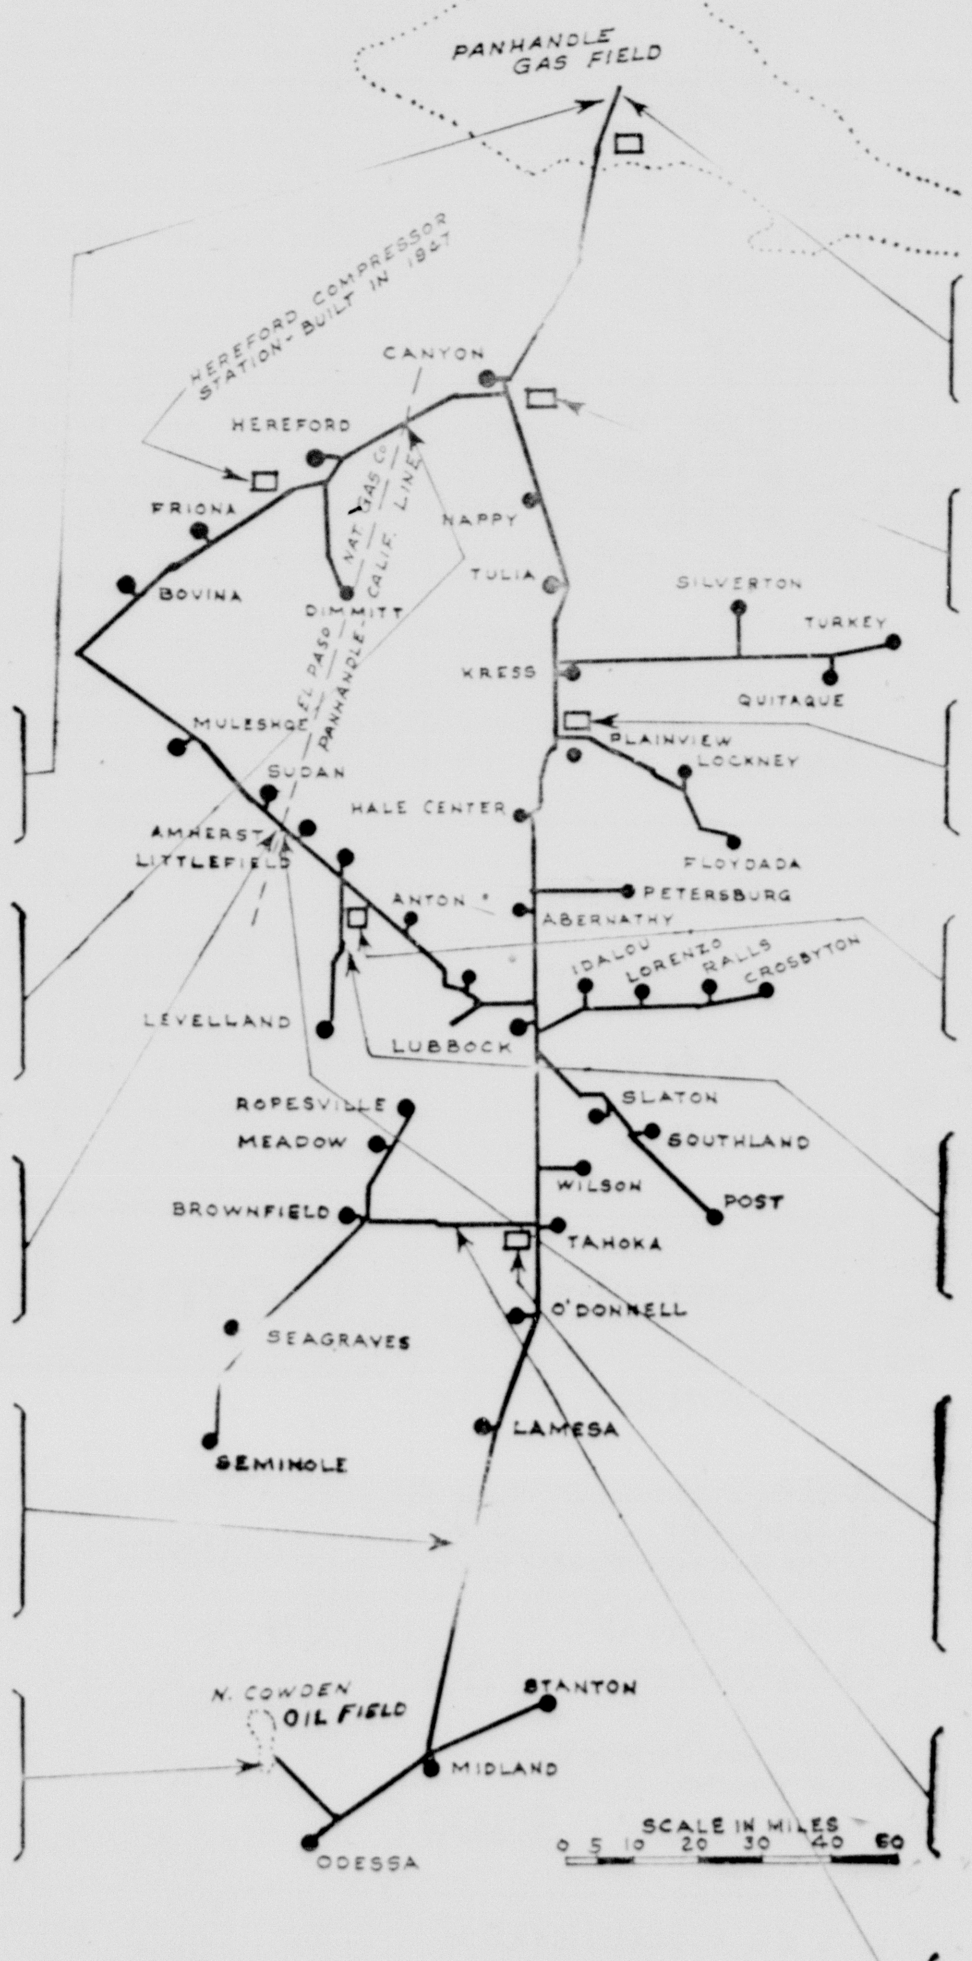
TWO NEW SOURCES OF SUPPLY ARRANGED

We have signed an agreement with El Paso Natural Gas Company to purchase gas from that company at two points. Barring unforseen contingencies, this gas, which will benefit all towns on our system, will be available by November 1, 1948.

Thus, by next winter, we will be receiving natural gas from FIVE sources, as follows:

1. From Panhandle Gas Field, through our own transmission lines.
2. From El Paso Natural Gas Company line at point of intersection with our line near Hereford.
3. From El Paso Natural Gas Company line at point of intersection with our line near Amherst.
4. At a point 25 miles south of Lamesa, from Empire Southern Gas Company, whose line from Andrews County to Big Spring intersects our line there.
5. From Cities Service Oil Company's Compressor Station in North Cowden Field, Ector County.

We are conducting investigations and studies which may result in our tapping still more sources of supply.



NEW FACILITIES TO BE INSTALLED ON PIPE LINE SYSTEM

1. Near Turkey Creek Compressor Station will be installed a 300 hp. booster compressor. (September.) Main plant is 2350 hp.
2. At McSpadden Compressor Station: three more 400 hp. compressors, increasing capacity to 2850 hp. (July.)
3. At Plainview Compressor Station: one more 300 hp. compressor, increasing capacity to 2400 hp. (December.)
4. At Littlefield Compressor Station: one 80 hp. compressor, to increase capacity to 330 hp. (August.)
5. Between Littlefield Compressor Station and Whitharral: nine miles of 6⅝-inch pipe will replace 3½-inch pipe. (4.4 miles June: remainder when pipe now on order is received.)
6. From Littlefield to point of intersection with new El Paso Natural Gas Company line: ten and one-half miles of 8⅝-inch pipe will replace 4½-inch pipe. (Pipe expected in July: will be installed soon as received.)
7. At Tahoka Compressor Station: one more 300 hp. compressor, to increase capacity to 780 hp. (September.)
8. Between Tahoka and Brownfield: ten miles of 6⅝-inch pipe will replace 4½-inch pipe. (Pipe on order: will be installed soon as received.)

Social Medicine Handicaps Those In Need of Aid

The Brookings Institution recently issued an exhaustive and objective survey, in which it piled up an imposing mass of evidence in opposition to compulsory government health insurance. That occasioned an editorial in the Christian Science Monitor, which said that this extension of power of government "would tend to freeze policies and retard medical progress. Politics probably could not be eliminated from medical service. Its quality would be impaired. Its cost would increase . . . The American system contains no fundamental defects. Its deficiencies can be met by better methods than governmental compulsion."

That is a swift summing up of a few of the main points against both government insurance and socialized medicine. And all of the points can be easily substantiated by the experience of other countries. The doctor who gets along best in a politically-run medical system is the doctor who follows a cautious routine and shows a minimum or initiative. All doctors are beleaguered by people who come to them whether they need care or not, on the grounds that they might as well get what they've paid for, and as a result many who are really sick receive inadequate attention. And the cost to the taxpayers always becomes fantastic — a development which is causing a storm in New Zealand now.

The medical system in this country is not perfect. But its achievements in lengthening the span of life and raising the health level of the people have proven the importance of keeping politics out of plans evolved to broaden the responsibility for medical care.

Southern Senators who have been opposing President Truman are set to get behind him now that Governor Dewey is the Republican nominee. The Southerners fear that Mr. Dewey, if President, will go all out to enact laws protecting Negroes in equal employment and other rights in the South as in New York.

"The way I feel about Wallace," said the voice on the morning bus, "I wouldn't like the way he parted his hair, if he did."

There is a fortune waiting for the resort owner who can truthfully advertise that the fish bite but the mosquitoes don't.

Paul Hoffman, U.S. Administrator of European aid, is by-passing Averell Harriman, American Ambassador handling aid inside Europe, and is risking conflict with Gen. Lucius Clay, U.S. Military Governor in Germany, in order to establish direct contact with German businessmen he considers best qualified to handle $2,000,000,000 worth of imports and exports. The Germans whom General Clay has picked are not regarded too highly by Mr. Hoffman.

Turkey and Greece may not be included in the 1949 program for U.S. economic aid to Europe. One reason is that members of Congress from tobacco-growing States in U.S. are wary of subsidizing expansion of tobacco growing and export in those two countries, whose tobacco is competitive with that of U.S. Another reason is that aid in that part of the world is regarded as primarily military.

Asking children to do homework is simply monstrous. The school managers ought to be warned by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. If they required such overtime from the Prime Minister, the Lord Chief Justice or the Astronomer Royal, they would be certified for a mental hospital.—George Bernard Shaw, playwright.

The Russians are counting on the fact that, in this pre-election period, both major parties in the U.S. are stressing the peacefulness of their policies and are extremely anxious to avoid any warlike appearance.

Foreign Market For Wheat Near Thing of Past

"Foreign demand for American grain may sag unexpectedly low this year," states the Southwestern Edition of The Wall Street Journal for June 29.

"Europe's harvests start rolling in about four weeks. Latest advices confirm earlier indications that all crops are in exceptionally good condition. The continent (excluding Russia) is expected to produce at least two billion bushels of wheat and rye this year. Some grain men think the total will be 100 million bushels higher than that. A 2.1 billion bushel harvest would be more than 25% above last year's production and only about 12% below pre-war normal" quotes the journal.

"This year we shipped overseas nearly 500 million bushels of wheat but unless we just plain give it away they probably won't want over 300 million the next 12 months," comments Keats E. Soder, Director of the Texas-Oklahoma Wheat Improvement Program. "These are big figures and a long ways from here, but it means cash in or out of the pockets of a lot of Oklahoma and Texas wheat growers," says Mr. Soder. "Housewives and bakers are forcing the flour millers to eliminate undesirable wheats from their mixes and in fact to import strong-gluten wheats from other states. This means the only major Chiefkan and Blackhull outlets remaining are overseas. Now that our exports will be cut drastically as reported in the Wall Street Journal, Chiefkan growers should stand ready to be discounted heavily by next harvest, if not before" concludes Mr. Soder.

"Today's excellent moisture condition in this county will allow wheat growers to sprout and kill all volunteer wheat as well as cheat and other weeds," advises H. E. Shahan, County Agent. "We'll have a list of certified wheat growers available soon for all farmers who want new, pure seed," concludes Mr. Shahan.

Hill Family Here For Conference Held in Honor of Dr. J. A. Hill

The Educational Conference held in the honor of Dr. J. A. Hill was the occasion for a reunion of Dr. Hill's family.

J. Davis Hill, son of Dr. Hill and superintendent of schools at Galveston, is here with his wife, an ex-student of WT, Faye Jordan, and theri two daughters, Jo Ann, 19 years old, and Carole Jane, 13 years old. Davis holds B.S. and M.A. degrees from West Texas State. He has two years of study at the University of Texas. He formerly taught in Amarillo, White Deer, and Marshall. He is past president of the Marshall Rotary Club and a prominent leader in the T.S.T.A.

Joseph Francis Hill, another son, is also here. He is Engineer with Douglass Aircraft Company, Santa Monica, California, and has been with that company since 1938 when he graduated from the University of Texas with a degree in Engineering. His wife is the former Wilma Jo Jones of Hereford, and they have two children, Joseph Andrew, 8, and Sue Ann, 5. Joe was the youngest member of the second Byrd Expedition to the South Pole in 1933-35 and was Admiral Byrd's Orderly. He drove a tractor 900 miles on ice and was in the Byrd rescue party. With his mother, he is co-author of the book, "In Little America With Byrd," published by Ginn and Company.

Marion Ethel, the only daughter of the Hill family, is a graduate of West Texas State and attended the University of Texas. She is married to Lemore Hill of Amarillo, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Hill of 1900 Harrison. Lemore is a graduate of Texas Christian University and is Chief Accountant of the Huber Corporation at Borger. He and Marion have two sons, John Joseph, aged 8 and Davis, aged 4. A. Hill, having graduated at West Texas State in 1930. For several years she was Assistant Librarian at West Texas State and later at Sul Ross State College in Alpine, Texas. Currently, she owns and operates a bookstore in Waco.

Dr. Hill has two other sisters who could not attend the exercises.

A brother, W. F. Hill ,druggist and banker of Eddy, was unable to attend. E. I. Hill of Tahoka, editor of the Lynn County News, another brother, was here.

Methodist To Hold July 18 Services at Camp Grounds

Rev. Hubert Thomson announced Sunday morning that the Sunday morning services of July 18 will be held at the Methodist Camp Ground on the Ceta Canyon. Both Sunday School and 11 o'clock services will be held in the tabernacle.

A basket dinner will follow the services.

A little boy was sitting behind a bald-headed man at church, who was scratching the fringe of hair on one side of his bald plate. The old gentleman kept it up so long that at last the little boy became interested, and, leaning over, said:

"Say, mister, you'll never catch him there. Why don't you run him out in the open?"

A bride and groom were going abroad on their honeymoon. While leaning over the rail of the ship, the bride dropped one of her rings overboard. She was deeply grieved over the loss. Some days later, dining in a hotel in Naples, they ordered fish. What do you think they found in the fish? Bones.

Furniture Shown In New Designs on the Markets

For the first time since pre-war days, buyers from retail furniture stores in Texas are finding a plentiful supply of home furnishing goods at the summer markets now in progress in Chicago and Grand Rapids. According to Bob Lindsey of Borger, president of the Retail Furniture Association of Texas, there is an abundant selection of merchandise in all price ranges.
bxclidrasticallyallr avabun-upplysfra

About 800 furniture executives, buyers and wholesale salesmen from Texas are attending the markets, which extend from July 5 to 17.

With the return of a competitive market new lines are being shown, although the period and modern styles that gained good consumer acceptance during the first half of the year are still prevalent. Badly designed furniture is rapidly becoming extinct, and the luxury of fashion is now available, even in the lowest price brackets.

Another important development of the summer markets is that the furniture industry is fighting a winning battle to keep prices down. Reduced margins, for both manufacturers and retailers, are being maintained in order to insure firm consumer prices.

Governor Pat Neff filed the appropriation bills without his signature, or without vetoing an item. The bill calls for paving on the campus. The Governor protested that the legislature failed to pass tax measures to meet the appropriations.

W. A. Warren leased the two new buildings being erected on the west side by Henry Bradford. The lease runs for 6 years and 4 months.

BOYCE HOUSE "Gives You Texas"

In November of 1920, I came to Texas. I'd had to sell the paper which I owned up in Arkansas and come to this state to rest in order to build up my health. After riding on the train for almost 24 hours, I prepared to get off in San Antonio. Nearly a thousand miles from home and friends, a stranger in a strange land, I felt lonely, indeed.

Imagine my surprise as I stepped off the train and heard a voice exclaim, "Boyce House, what are you doing away down here?" The speaker was a schoolmate of Central High days in Memphis, Tenn., who was at the station to meet a relative. The sight of a familiar face and the sound of a friendly voice drove away the "lost" feeling.

I have never seen that schoolmate since then.

A man living in a small Western city was in Chicago on a business trip. Under the impulse of a spirit of mischief, he entered the telegraph office and sent a message to a man living in his town. The telegram read, "Flee at once; all is discovered. (Signed) You know who."

When the traveler returned, he found that the man to whom he had sent the message had left—and he never did come back!

Jim White was a cowboy out in New Mexico. One day, he came into town with a story of a wonderful cave which he said he had discovered and explored.

Nobody believed him, however.

It took more than 20 years before he could persuade anyone to go out with him and see if he was telling the truth. At last a group of businessmen yielded and he made good his most enthusiastic descriptions of the wonders of the cave.

And that is how Carlsbad Cavern came to be known to the world.

CHANCE

A lodge member approached Henry. "We are having a raffle for a poor widow," he said. "Will you buy a ticket?"

"Nope," said Henry. "My wife wouldn't let me keep her if I won."

PEACE

It is safe to say that no farmer ever got a corn crop by simply reassuring himself periodically, "I'm not going to let my land grow up to weeds!" Similarly, the people of the world can never hope to reap the benefits of permanent peace by reassuring themselves daily, "We will have no more war." Just as there is no corn crop without planting and cultivation, so there will be no growth toward peace without the planting and cultivation of attitudes that breed peace.—Helen L. Toned, "Makers of Peace."

Gen. Lucius Clay, as military boss of Western Germany, is going to find Mr. Hoffman much harder to manage than he has found State Secretary Marshall. The State Department has been a pushover for the Military Governor in arguments over policy, but Administrator Hoffman is proving much more difficult for the military to handle.

George Marshall, Secretary of State, is deciding against withdrawal of U. S. forces from Berlin at this time, on the ground that this withdrawal would be regarded in Europe as retreat under pressure. Economists Are Not Agreed on Price Futures

What is the outlook for business activity, prices, wages, etc., for the next year or so?

The economists seem to be in reasonable agreement. There is no foreseeable decline in industrial production in general. No one is talking about depressions, except as a very long range possibility. Employment, consequently, will remain high.

More wage increases are on the way—General Motors' recent agreement with the auto workers probably indicates the pattern.

It is expected that there will be some rise in commodity prices, perhaps averaging three or four per cent by the end of the year. Some prices will naturally go up more than others. The new Ford cars, as an example, cost about 9 per cent more than the previous models. Only moderate increases in food prices are forecast.

The influence of the preparedness program, which will cost about $13,000,000,000 during the next fiscal year, is being watched closely. This, coming on top of the European Aid Program, will place another, heavy burden on basic industries. That drain may be severe in the case of materials now in short supply. From the consumer's point of view, it will be marked by a smaller production of automobiles and similar goods than would be the case otherwise.

There is a possibility that the tax cut given income taxpayers this year may not be continued in the next. It all depends on the relationship between Federal income and outgo. Neither party, in an election year, seems willing to do much more than talk about government economy.

NO QUESTION ABOUT IT

An old Negro mammy who was adicted to the pipe was being lectured on the habit by a Sunday-school teacher. Finally the latter said:

"Do you expect to go to heaven?"

"Yes, indeedy!"

"But the Bible says nothing unclean shall enter there. Now the breath of the smoker is unclean. What do you say to that?"

"Well, I reckon I leave ma bref behin' when I enter dar," was old mammy's response.

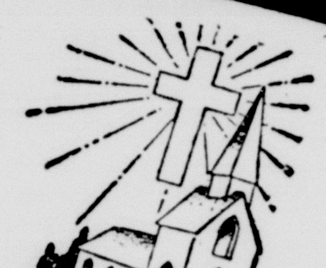
The Great UMPIRE

Copyright 1947 by
Williams Newspaper Features
Box 413, Fort Worth, Texas

Attend Church

It was a great day for religion when the prophet Amos discovered that there is an Umpire who passes judgment in the affairs of men. Life is a great game and we are all players; it is an interesting and thrilling game if we can be sure that we have a fair chance. We will play our best if we know that the Umpire is impartial; but it takes the heart out of the best player if he suspects that he is called 'out' when he was safe at the base. We have a fine tradition in the great American Game of baseball; men of integrity as well as of intelligence call the strikes and decide between the opposing sides when the play is close. So we rejoice that at the heart of the Universe justice is enthroned; though onlookers may jeer or call the game against us we rest assured that the Cosmic Umpire will understand and will call our plays with fairness. The Judge of all the earth will do right. On the other side, we too must keep the rules of the game, we must play fairly, we must play with our mates in good teamwork, we must keep ourselves in good trim for the gruelling contest ahead of us. The Umpire will not do our playing for us, but he will guarantee us a fair decision in today's game and at the end of the playing season. He calls today, "Play ball!" Then play with all your skill and power and rest your game with THE GREAT UMPIRE WHO NEVER CALLS 'EM WRONG.



YOU IN THE CHURCH THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions that fortify and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial are molding religious character. Statesmen today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. "You in the Church and the Church in you"—form a combination for good.

National Guard Recruiting Men

"The National Guard will continue to enlist men of all ages in each unit which needs men," Maj. Gen. K. L. Berry, the Adjutant General stated last week. "I am anxious to clarify a situation which has been clouded by conflicting reports to newspapers and radio stations from Washington and other sources," he said.

"Each unit has been given a strength ceiling of 100% officers and 60% enlisted men. Units which reached or exceeded that ceiling by midnight June 24 can retain the extra men until absorbed by attrition.

"Units which have not yet reached that strength ceiling are authorized to continue recruiting until they do reach it. At that time recruiting must cease for that unit.

"Several classes of men are eligible for the Guard. Men 17 to 18½ will be exempt from the draft if they remain in the Guard until they are past draft age.

"Veterans who have had more than 90 days, but less than 12 months active Federal service may join the Guard and be exempt.

"Men of draft age may join the Guard and remain until and if their name is called. They will get paid the regular Army pay scale. They will fit themselves for higher ratings and higher pay if they are called to the Army."

"It is doubtful that members of the National Guard ever will be called into active Federal service," Gen. Berry said, "except in time of national emergency. Everything else being equal, a member of the National Guard will be given preference of deferment. It is likely that, depending on the demand for manpower and the quotas required of Selective Service Boards, the Board will defer a Guardsman if any other men are available."

EASY MONEY

An American had an invitation to a private shoot. Addressing the old gamekeeper, he said: "I'm one of the crack shots in this country. Tomorrow you will be loading for me, and for every bird I miss I'll give you a quarter."

The following evening the gamekeeper met a friend and told him the story.

"If I'd had another blank cartridge," he said, "I'd have made an even five dollars."

Herbert Hoover, former President, and Alfred Landon, one-time Republican nominee for the Presidency, would not rank as elder statesmen and advisers to a Dewey Administration. Both had a hand in moves designed to try to stop Mr. Dewey in the Convention that nominated him.

CORRECT!

Teacher: "Earl, did you whisper today?"

Earl: "Yes ma'am wunst."

Teacher: "Pat, should he have said wunst?"

Pat: "No, ma'am, he should have said twict."

It is a little sad how the watchdog of the treasury keeps putting the bite on us.

Polio Cases In Texas Reach an Alarming Point

Reported cases of polio in sixty-five Texas counties reached the alarming total of 580 during the first six months of the year, according to Dr. George W. Cox, State Health Officer. For the same period in 1946, the total number of cases reported in sixty-six counties of the state was only 292.

"This staggering increase in polio in a brief two year period evidences a need for drastic measures in all communities to combat the disease," Dr. Cox asserted. "It is the responsibility of the people of the State to report themselves to their doctors whenever they recognize symptoms of polio. It is also their duty to give wholehearted co-operation to clean-up drives in their communities."

Dr. Cox urged immediate medical attention, especially at this time of year, for such things as headaches, fever, stiff neck, pain in the legs, irritability and drowsiness. These, the health officer stated, are symptoms of polio.

"It is well to guard against panic in polio cases," he said, "for complete recovery is not impossible. Even in the more severe cases, when the germ has penetrated the nervous system causing paralysis of one or more groups of muscles, some remarkable recoveries have been made."

Dr. Cox indicated his belief that the first line of defense against polio is a carefully conceived and thoroughly executed clean-up campaign in all communities.

"Local police power should make such clean-ups mandatory," he said.

HOOKED

P. T. Barnum had the reputation of outwitting anyone with whom he dealt. But a man from Vermont once turned the tables on him. The Vermonter wrote a letter to Barnum, saying he had a cherry-colored cat which he thought should be added to the Barnum Museum, the price being only $200.

Barnum imediately sent a check for $200 for the cat. In return he received promptly a large, coal-black cat, with a note attached to its neck: "I neglected to tell you that Vermont cherries are always black."

Representative Charles A. Halleck, of Indiana, actually hurt his chance at second place on the Republican ticket by swinging the support of his State's delegation over to Governor Dewey. After that, Mr. Dewey could not back Mr. Halleck for the Vice Presidency without the appearance of a deal for votes, which he had been denying.

Senator Robert Taft, of Ohio, is expected to be interested in an appointment to the Supreme Court if a vacancy occurs during a Dewey regime.
